

KING IV APPLICATION REGISTER

This register contains an explanation of the implementation by African and Overseas Enterprises Limited (“the company”) of the principles and applicable practices as recommended in the King IV Report on Corporate Governance for South Africa, 2016 (“King IV”) in relation to the financial year ended 30 June 2024.

During the year under review, the company continued with the implementation of King IV through the application of the King IV disclosure and application regime, recognising at all times that the practices as recommended in King IV are positioned at the level of leading practices. Therefore, it may not be suitable and appropriate for the company to achieve the principles and realise the intended governance outcomes. Further, such practices are meant to be scaled proportionally in accordance with the small turnover, very small size of the company’s workforce, its limited resources, its simple business model and structure, and the limited nature and extent of the activities undertaken by the company.

This document is to be read in conjunction with the company’s 2024 integrated annual report and at all times having regard to the proportionality considerations detailed above, including the nature, size and structure of the company and its subsidiaries, including Rex Trueform Group Limited (“Rex Trueform”), Queenspark Proprietary Limited (“Queenspark”), Queenspark Distribution Centre Proprietary Limited (“Queenspark Distribution Centre”), Ombrecorp Trading (RF) Proprietary Limited (“Ombrecorp”), Belper Investments Proprietary Limited (“Belper”) and Telemedia Proprietary Limited (“Telemedia”) (collectively hereinafter referred to as the “group”).

LEADERSHIP
Principle 1	Explanation
The governing body should lead ethically and effectively	The board of directors of the company (“the board”) is committed to the principles of effective corporate governance and the application of the highest ethical standards in the conduct of the business and the company. The board accordingly endorses the recommended practices of integrity, competence, responsibility, accountability, fairness and transparency advocated by King IV. The board acts at all times in accordance with the standards of conduct required of it in terms of the Companies Act 71 of 2008 (as amended) (“Companies Act”) and has a fiduciary duty to, amongst other things, act in good faith and in a manner that the directors reasonably believe to be in the best interests of the company, and does so in accordance therewith. The board exercises objective judgement on the affairs of the company independently from management, has assumed responsibility for setting the direction of the company through the establishment of strategic objectives and policies, has taken overall accountability for the company, and retains full and effective control of the company. In this regard the board considers and approves the company’s strategy after taking into account financial and non-financial matters, including risks and opportunities. Risks are continuously assessed by the board (through its risk committee). Board members have a working knowledge of the organisation and are kept apprised of the industry(ies) within which the company’s subsidiaries operate. The board has appointed a social and ethics committee to consider, amongst other things, the economic and social environment within which the company operates. The company has formal disclosure processes in place in relation to the disclosure of the interests of directors and conflicts of interest. All board members are required to report any conflicts of interest that may arise in the course of their duties. At the beginning of each meeting of the board and its committees, all members are required to declare whether any of them have any conflict of interest in respect of a matter on the agenda. Conflicts (if any) would be proactively managed, as determined by the board and subject to legal provisions.

	The board furthermore understands that it has a duty to take the necessary steps to ensure the identification of key laws, rules, codes and standards applicable to the company. A standing agenda item in respect of all board meetings deals with material changes in laws and the board is also kept informed of relevant laws, rules, codes and standards, including changes thereto, on an informal basis. The board meets at least three times per calendar year, with various committees of the board meeting at additional times during the year. The chairpersons of the various committees report to the board on the matters dealt with at the committee meetings as a standing board meeting agenda item. Details regarding the attendance of board and committee members at meetings held during the year under review are contained in the company's 2024 integrated annual report. Directors are held to account for ethical and effective leadership by way of being subject to the board charter and a code of ethics. Additionally, performance evaluations of the board and its members are conducted in the manner required in terms of King IV. Furthermore, the performance of each board member is taken into account by the nomination committee when nominating such member for re-election by shareholders at each relevant annual general meeting.
ORGANISATIONAL ETHICS
Principle 2	Explanation
The governing body should govern the ethics of the organisation in a way that supports the establishment of an ethical culture	The board sets the values to which the company adheres and takes active steps to ensure that the applicable ethical standards are integrated into its business operations. In this regard, a social and ethics committee has been appointed to monitor the ethical nature of the board and the company's actions. The business of the company is conducted in a responsible and ethical manner, and various codes of conduct are issued – such as the dissemination of the group code of ethics to board members and a supplier code of ethics to suppliers. The company is an investment holding company and, as such, material matters relating to organisational ethics apply to the company's subsidiary, Rex Trueform and its subsidiaries, and are accordingly addressed in Rex Trueform's King IV application register as read with its 2024 integrated annual report. Further details regarding key areas of focus during the period under review and planned areas of focus in relation to organisational ethics are set out in the corporate governance and social and ethics committee reports in the company's 2024 integrated annual report. Planned areas of focus in relation to organisational ethics relate, in the main, to the company's subsidiary, Rex Trueform and its subsidiaries, and are accordingly addressed in Rex Trueform's 2024 integrated annual report.
RESPONSIBLE CORPORATE CITIZENSHIP
Principle 3	Explanation
The governing body should ensure that the organisation is and is seen to be a responsible corporate citizen	The company acknowledges its obligation to be, and to be seen to be, a responsible corporate citizen, including by complying with the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa (including the Bill of Rights), all applicable laws, leading standards (where application thereof is reasonably and commercially practicable), and adherence to its own codes of conduct and policies and, as noted above, taking into consideration the economic and social context within which the company operates. The terms of reference of the company's social and ethics committee includes assisting the company in the implementation of the applicable recommended practices in terms of King IV relating to, amongst other things, responsible corporate citizenship (subject at all times to the proportionality considerations particular to the company). Further details and feedback in relation to this principle (including key areas of focus during the period under review and planned areas of focus) are noted in the corporate governance and social and ethics committee reports in the company's 2024 integrated annual report (together with relevant portions of the Rex Trueform 2024 integrated annual report).

STRATEGY AND PERFORMANCE
Principle 4	Explanation
The governing body should appreciate that the company's core purpose, its risks and opportunities, strategy, business model, performance and sustainable development are all inseparable elements of the value-creation process	The board of the company is responsible for setting the direction of the company through the establishment of strategic objectives and policies, and takes overall accountability for the company by taking responsibility for its management. The board considers and approves the company's strategy after taking into account financial and non-financial matters, including risks and opportunities (to the extent applicable, having regard to the proportionality considerations detailed above). The board of the company continues to oversee the implementation of the agreed strategy. Authority and responsibility for the implementation of the agreed strategy and the on-going management and administration of the company's business has been delegated by the board to the CEO and management. The board monitors the financial position of the company on a frequent basis. The company is not financially distressed, nor is it in business rescue and the board is satisfied that the going concern assertion has been satisfied for the forthcoming financial year.

REPORTING
Principle 5	Explanation
The governing body should ensure that reports issued by the company enable stakeholders to make informed assessments of the organisation's performance, and its short-, medium- and long-term prospects	The board (duly assisted by the relevant committees) assumes responsibility for the company's reporting and approves all external reports of the company in an endeavour to ensure that these meet the legitimate and reasonable needs of material stakeholders. The board acknowledges its ultimate responsibility for the integrity of the integrated annual report as a whole. The integrated annual report focuses on issues that the board and management believe are material to stakeholders and that could significantly affect the group's ability to create value. The board has applied its mind to the 2024 integrated annual report and in its opinion, the integrated annual report addresses all material issues and presents fairly the integrated performance of the organisation. The board furthermore endeavours to ensure that the integrated annual report provides a holistic representation of the company's performance, and is satisfied that the 2024 integrated annual report will enable stakeholders to obtain insight into the company's operations, strategy, and financial performance and sustainability having regard at all times to the company's business model and structure, and the limited nature and extent of the activities undertaken by the company. While the financial statements are assured by the external auditor, the integrated annual report (other than the financial statements contained therein) is not externally assured.

PRIMARY ROLE AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE GOVERNING BODY
Principle 6	Explanation
The governing body should serve as the focal point and custodian of corporate governance in the organisation	The board serves as the focal point and custodian of corporate governance in the company and is ultimately accountable and responsible for the performance and affairs of the company. The board exercises its leadership role by steering the organisation and setting its strategic direction, approving policy and plans that give effect to its strategy, overseeing and monitoring implementation and execution by management, and ensuring accountability for organisational performance by means of, amongst other things, reporting and disclosure. The board's role, responsibilities, membership requirements and procedural conduct are documented in a board charter which is regularly reviewed to guide its effective functioning. The board is satisfied that it has fulfilled its responsibilities in accordance with the board charter for the period under review. Board members are entitled to and have access to all relevant company information and management to assist them in discharging their duties and responsibilities, and in order for them to take informed decisions. The board meets at least three

	times a year to discuss performance, to monitor issues of strategic direction and to consider any other issues having a material effect on the company. A formal agenda is prepared for each board meeting and comprehensive board packs containing information necessary for directors to make informed decisions are shared with directors and invitees prior to board meetings. The number of board and committee meetings held during the financial year ended 30 June 2024, as well as the attendance register, is detailed in the company's 2024 integrated annual report.
COMPOSITION OF THE BOARD
Principle 7	Explanation
The governing body should comprise the appropriate balance of knowledge, skills, experience, diversity and independence for it to discharge its governance role and responsibilities objectively and effectively	Composition The company has a unitary board structure which consisted during the year under review of four non-executive directors, all of whom are independent, and two executive directors. Executive directors are involved in the day-to-day management of the company. Non-executive directors are chosen for their knowledge, skills and experience and bring an independent view to bear on key issues. A policy on the promotion of diversity at board level has been approved by the board. When recommending persons for appointment to the board, the nomination committee has considered and applied this policy. The board has determined that, at this stage and given the current level of diversity enjoyed by the board, no voluntary targets in relation to the diversity of the board will be set. The board will consider this on an annual basis when reviewing the policy. The board is satisfied that its composition reflects the appropriate mix of knowledge, skills, experience, diversity and independence for it to discharge its governance role and responsibilities objectively and effectively. Nomination, election and appointment of members to the board Prior to nominating a candidate for election, the nomination committee considers, amongst other things, the collective knowledge, skills and experience required by the board, the diversity of the board and whether the candidate meets the appropriate fit and proper criteria. Independence and conflicts The board annually assesses the independence of the independent non-executive directors and has ascertained that PM Naylor, B Ntshingwa, HB Roberts and MR Molosiwa all satisfy the criteria for independence. PM Naylor has served on the board as an independent non-executive director for longer than ten years. Upon assessment, the board has concluded that PM Naylor exercises objective judgement and there is no interest, position, association or relationship which, when judged from the perspective of a reasonable and informed third party, is likely to unduly influence or cause bias in PM Naylor's decision-making. Chair of the board The chairperson, MR Molosiwa, is responsible for, amongst other things, leading the board in the objective and effective discharge of its governance role and responsibilities and for representing the board to shareholders. The chairperson is an independent non-executive director and is appointed by the board. PM Naylor, an independent non-executive director, was re-appointed as lead independent non-executive director of the company and remains in such role. The chairperson is not a member of the audit or risk or social and ethics committees. He is a member of the nomination committee but does not chair such committee. He is a member and chair of the remuneration committee. Having regard to the fact that the company is an investment holding company which conducts limited activities, that the company does not remunerate its non-executive directors, and further that the chairperson is the chair of the remuneration committee of Rex Trueform (the board of which he does not chair) which deals with various remuneration-related matters within the group, it was felt that the necessary governance outcomes could be achieved by the company notwithstanding that the chairperson is also the chair of the remuneration committee.

Principle 8	Explanation
The governing body should ensure that its arrangements for delegation within its own structures promote independent judgement, and assist with balance of power and the effective discharge of its duties	The board has ensured that its arrangements for delegation within its own structures promote independent judgement, and assist with the balance of power and effective discharge of its duties by way of constituting audit, risk, social and ethics, remuneration and nomination committees. Audit committee The audit committee comprises HB Roberts, who chairs the audit committee, PM Naylor, the lead independent non-executive director of the company, and B Ntshingwa. EVALUATIONS OF THE PERFORMANCE OF THE GOVERNING BODY
Principle 9	Explanation
The governing body should ensure that the evaluation of its own performance and that of its committees, its chair and its individual members support continued improvement in its performance and effectiveness	During the period under review, the board considered, reflected on and discussed its own performance and that of its committees, its chair and its individual members and concluded that it was satisfied with such performance, including that the evaluation process is improving the board's performance and effectiveness. It is anticipated that the process of evaluation of board members and committees will continue to be improved upon over time. The performance evaluations were not externally facilitated.

APPOINTMENT AND DELEGATION TO MANAGEMENT

Principle 10

The governing body should ensure that the appointment of, and delegation to, management contribute to role clarity and the effective exercise of authority and responsibilities

Explanation

CEO appointment and role

The CEO, MA Golding, is responsible for leading the implementation and execution of approved strategy, policy and operational planning, and is accountable and reports to the board. The CEO is furthermore responsible for ensuring that the limited business affairs of the company are properly managed. The CEO is not a member of the audit, nomination, remuneration or risk committees, but may attend such meetings, or portions thereof, to contribute pertinent insights and information.

The roles of chairperson, CEO, financial director and the remaining non-executive directors are separated. There is a clear division of responsibilities at board level, as informed by the Memorandum of Incorporation of the company, together with the company's board charter, in order to ensure that no one director has unfettered powers of decision-making.

A formal succession plan for the CEO is in place to provide continuity of executive leadership. The succession plan is reviewed on an annual basis and provides for both succession in emergency situations and succession over the longer term. Further required disclosures in relation to the CEO is set out in the remuneration and corporate governance reports in the company's 2024 integrated annual report.

Delegation

The board has delegated certain of its powers to its committees and other powers have been delegated to the group's executive and other management. The board charter distinguishes between those matters that are reserved for decision by the board and those that may be delegated to management. The various committees' terms of reference set out the delegation by the board of its powers to such committees. Delegation by the board of its powers does not mitigate or dissipate the responsibility of the board to discharge its duties and responsibilities. The board is satisfied that the delegation of authority framework within the company contributes to role clarity and the effective exercise of authority and responsibilities.

Professional corporate governance services to the board

The board has secured professional and independent guidance on corporate governance and its legal duties by appointing a company secretary. This role not only coordinates the functioning of the board and its committees but also provides directors with essential guidance on their duties, responsibilities, and powers. Additionally, the company secretary serves as a central source of advice and support within the company, offering insights on matters of good governance and keeping the board informed of legislative changes.

The company secretary is not a director of the company and has no relationship with the board that interferes with her maintenance of an arm's length relationship with the board. The company secretary attends all board and committee meetings by invitation, including in order to maintain a record of such meetings.

The board considers and satisfies itself on an annual basis as to the performance, competence, qualifications and experience of the company secretary and is satisfied that during the year under review the company secretary, given her performance, competence, qualifications and experience, discharged her duties effectively and appropriately, and maintained an arm's length relationship with the board.

All directors have unlimited and unfettered access to the advice and services of the company secretary. The board believes that the arrangements in place for accessing professional corporate governance services are effective.

RISK GOVERNANCE
Principle 11	Explanation
The governing body should govern risk in a way that supports the organisation in setting and achieving its strategic objectives	The board is committed to a process of risk management that is aligned to the principles of good corporate governance as encompassed in King IV. Risk management assists the company in achieving its objectives by establishing a formal, structured approach of identifying, prioritising and managing risks with the aim of ensuring both the short-term and long-term sustainability of the company. The risk management vision of the company is the effective and efficient management of risk to enable each entity to fulfil its mandate and meet the service delivery expectations of stakeholders and the performance expectations of the entity itself. Risk management is recognised as an integral part of responsible management and the company therefore adopts a comprehensive approach to the management of risk. Management ensures that the entity has in place an effective on-going risk assessment process consisting of risk identification, prioritisation and evaluation. Risks are prioritised in terms of their impact and likelihood. At least once a year a facilitated and formal process is undertaken to update a documented risk register across the entity. The CFO of Rex Trueform assists with the management and facilitation of the risk management process of the company. Further salient details regarding the arrangements for governing and managing risk are set out in the corporate governance report in the company's 2024 integrated annual report.
TECHNOLOGY AND INFORMATION GOVERNANCE
Principle 12	Explanation
The governing body should govern technology and information in a way that supports the organisation in setting and achieving its strategic objectives	In order to manage the company's resources more effectively, the company receives certain IT-related services from its subsidiary, Queenspark. The company therefore does not have its own IT infrastructure but rather utilises the services of its subsidiary in this regard. Queenspark owns and manages various IT facilities and resources that are utilised to provide IT services to the company, and is responsible for the implementation and maintenance of IT governance. The company (and the board) has access to relevant information regarding matters of IT governance within Queenspark, including its policies and procedures relating thereto. The role that electronic communication and information technology play in the group is of central importance. In recognition thereof, the group has adopted and continues to entrench applicable strategies, policies and processes. All directors are regularly informed of key information technology matters and the executive directors oversee the IT department. Responsibility for the implementation of IT governance within the group is assigned to the information technology management team employed in the group. The Queenspark board assists the group in the management of IT risks. Furthermore, the assistance of external experts is obtained to assist the group in the governance of IT-related matters. There were no significant changes in policy, IT-related acquisitions or IT-related incidents during the 2024 financial year. Queenspark commenced with the implementation of a new ERP system. Key areas of focus during the reporting period and planned areas of focus from an IT perspective are detailed in the corporate governance report in the company's 2024 integrated annual report.

COMPLIANCE GOVERNANCE
Principle 13	Explanation

A standing agenda item at all board meetings deals with material changes in laws and the board is also kept informed of relevant laws, rules, codes and standards, including changes thereto, on an informal basis. The risk committee assists the company in complying with regulatory requirements and promoting processes and procedures that are risk appropriate so that the company achieves its goals without fear of penalties or reputational harm. The group utilises the resources of experts, when necessary, to assist in the management of compliance. The group has appropriately qualified employees in executive positions (including an in-house legal adviser) to assist with matters of compliance and has appointed a company secretary (who also performs the role of the group’s in-house legal adviser) to provide a central source of guidance and advice to the board, and within the company, on matters of good governance and changes in legislation, which are made available to the company when required. To the best of the company’s knowledge and belief, it has complied with all applicable JSE Listings Requirements and every disclosure requirement imposed by the JSE for continued listing on the JSE Limited (“JSE”) for the financial year under review. No material or repeated regulatory penalties, sanctions or fines for contraventions of, or non-compliance with, statutory obligations were imposed on the group or on members of the board during the period under review. Furthermore, no monitoring and compliance inspections were undertaken by environmental regulators and there were no findings of non-compliance with environmental laws, or criminal sanctions and prosecutions. Key areas of focus during the reporting period and planned areas of focus from a compliance perspective are detailed in the corporate governance report in the company’s 2024 integrated annual report.
REMUNERATION GOVERNANCE
Principle 14	Explanation
The governing body should ensure that the organisation remunerates fairly, responsibly and transparently so as to promote the achievement of strategic objectives and positive outcomes in the short-, medium- and long-term	The board recognises its responsibility to ensure that the company remunerates fairly, responsibly and transparently so as to promote the achievement of strategic objectives and positive outcomes in the short-, medium- and long-term. The remuneration policy and remuneration implementation report, which are voted on annually by the company’s ordinary and “N” ordinary shareholders through separate non-binding votes, are contained in the remuneration report in the company’s 2024 integrated annual report.
ASSURANCE
Principle 15	Explanation
The governing body should ensure that assurance services and functions enable an effective control environment and that these support the integrity of information for internal decision-making and of the organisation’s external reports	The board has assumed responsibility for assurance by setting the direction of the arrangements for assurance services and functions. The board has delegated to the audit committee the responsibility for providing independent oversight of, amongst other things, the effectiveness of the company’s assurance functions and services with particular focus on combined assurance arrangements, including external audit, internal audit, the finance function and the integrity of the annual financial statements. The board is responsible for the company’s internal control systems and for reviewing their effectiveness. Appropriate systems of internal control are maintained. The group’s internal audit function is considered essential to maintaining the integrity, adequacy, efficiency and effectiveness of the company’s financial and non-financial controls. The year under review has seen the continued entrenchment of the risk assessment process which is reviewed by internal audit and forms part of the combined assurance framework.

	No material loss or misstatement arising from a material breakdown in the functioning of the system of internal controls has been identified by the external auditor in respect of the financial year under review. Further details and disclosures regarding the company's application of combined assurance and the internal control environment are contained in the audit committee report in the company's 2024 integrated annual report and in the 2024 annual financial statements.
STAKEHOLDERS
Principle 16	Explanation
In the execution of its governance role and responsibilities, the governing body should adopt a stakeholder-inclusive approach that balances the needs, interests and expectations of material stakeholders in the best interests of the organisation over time	The board has identified important stakeholder groupings as noted in the integrated annual report and continues to manage such relationships in order to, amongst other things, protect and enhance the company's reputation and achieve an appropriate balance between the interests of various stakeholders. In doing so, the board takes into account, as far as possible, the legitimate interests and expectations of its stakeholders. Methods of engagement by the company with its various stakeholders are detailed in the integrated annual report. The company treats the holders of all classes of its shares (including minorities) equitably having regard to the rights, preferences and limitations attaching to the classes of such shares and interests of all such shareholders. The board endeavours to ensure that disputes (if any) are resolved in an appropriate and timely manner, including, having regard to the interests of the company. Details of Rex Trueform's application of the corporate governance requirements of King IV are contained in its 2024 integrated annual report as read with its 2024 King IV application register. The unlisted subsidiaries of the company endeavour (where practical and appropriate) to comply with the corporate governance requirements of King IV. The board and the boards of the various entities within the group work closely together within an agreed framework.
